

December 16, 2016

Just a brief note to let everyone know that we are hanging on! There is so much going on it is hard to find time to “do the small stuff”!!! We are working on getting the annual Christmas party together on December 24th and then on January 1, 2017 we have a Medical Mission’s team coming out for the afternoon. They will conduct a class on Leadership for the men and Being a servant for the women. Hopefully they will share what they learn with each other as both need to know how to be leaders and servants. We also have a Hygiene class to hopefully help the local people on taking care of their families. There will of course be a Bible study class for the children and worship for all.

I am feeling a little anxiety as we are getting so close to both events. My partner, Sophy was not feeling well this afternoon. He said he had pain in his stomach but was not able to pinpoint the pain as I went to Web MD on the computer and tried to see if he needed to go to the doctor. I did not detect a temperature so hopefully it is coming from something he ate. He has been under a lot of stress lately with Lina, his wife having thyroid surgery in Bangkok, Thailand. They have had to make several trips getting all taken care of. Then she was sick again yesterday and he spent the day at the hospital with her. So please pray that this is nothing that a couple of days rest want cure. I will keep you posted either by email or facebook.

For myself, I am doing OK. A little tired, which is understandable with all that is going on and Sophy being gone so much, but I am hanging on. I have started teaching a 7 o’clock class in the evening and it is rather enjoyable. The students ages range from adult to around twelve years of age. I am not going to say what I am teaching until I see if it is going to work!!! I believe it will.

I want to wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
